

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to a one-touch type foldable tent, and in particular to 5 an improved one-touch type foldable tent in which the poles are concurrently folded and unfolded based on an operation of a connection assembly. The connection assembly is provided at an upper center of the tent for folding and unfolding the poles, and the upper sides of the poles are hinged at the center connection assembly.